Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the position of Client Documentation Generalist (100%) in Zurich. I hold a Swiss B permit, which entitles me to work in Switzerland without any requirement for employer sponsorship.

Reviewing client documentation for completeness and accuracy has been the substance of my work throughout nearly nine years in banking. At IndusInd Bank I ran KYC verification, remediation and periodic refresh, reviewing files for both individuals and legal entities, recording the deficiencies identified, and requesting the missing documents from clients and from the teams holding the relationship. In my most recent role, structured file reviews and process improvements reduced documentation errors by 25 per cent. Supporting the front on questions of documentation standards is equally familiar: I advised branch colleagues on onboarding standards and documentation quality.

For legal entities I have verified Ultimate Beneficial Ownership, including limited liability partnerships and private trusts, and reviewed corporate registration records as part of the identification process. I have handled FATCA and CRS requirements at onboarding and throughout the relationship. A substantial part of my work has involved Non-Resident Indian clients, where residency status determines the permissible account structure, the documentation required and the cross-border treatment of funds; that experience bears directly on reviewing tax formalities for consistency. I have also managed account opening, maintenance and closure across the client lifecycle, keeping records audit-ready and supporting internal compliance reviews, much of it for High Net Worth and affluent clients.

Two points on the formal profile should be stated plainly. I have not worked under CDB 20, and my academic background is in Linguistics and English Literature rather than a commercial apprenticeship. Your posting asks for three years of experience in bank customer documentation; I have nearly nine, across three banks. I have also built my Swiss regulatory grounding on my own initiative, completing SAQ-recognised AMLA/AMLO-FINMA 2025 training and the Basel Institute on Governance course on combating terrorism financing, and would approach the Code of Conduct in the same way. My German is at B1 level.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my application with you and thank you for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Moumita Dey
